AFFAIRS OF THE DISTRICT

Commissioner Ross Favors Granting Permission to Park Cars.

The Street Railways Frequently Blocked and Should Have Emergency Permits—Views of Inspector Thomas and the Superintendent of Police—Mistake in Tax Department

Gen. George H. Harries, as already published in this paper, has been temporarily permitted to park cars on the street in cases of emergency. It will also be recalled that the Engineer Commissioner recommended to his associates that the request be not granted, on the ground that the time and extent of the emergency in any case could not be foreseen, and that either the Engineer Commissioner or the Commissioner having charge of the Police Department could be communicated with by telephone at any time, and the matter adjusted.

But Commissioner Ross, in considering the matter, stated to his associates that he inclined to approve the recommendations of Inspector Thomas and Assistant Engineer Commissioner Newcomer in the case. "It is a matter of common observation," continues Mr. Ross, "that the cars of the best regulated street railway systems are obstructed frequently by causes which are beyond their control. The plan of communicating with one of the Commissioners in such exigencies for permission to have the cars parked does not recommend itself to my judgment. It has not infrequently happened that all of the Commissioners are away from the District Building at the same time, inspecting sites for public buildings and for other official reasons, so as to be inaccessible even to telephone communication for hours. The points named for the requested permits are reported by Inspector Thomas to be such that they will not inconvenience the public. The cars are shared by the Major and Superintendent of Police, who, at my request has inspected the said localities. I therefore, favor the issuance of a permit, conditioned so as to apply only where the blockade is unavoidable, and made revocable when its terms are violated. The plan would be to have necessary rests, and would, in my opinion, imperil no public interests."

The Commissioners yesterday received a letter from Henry C. Hallam, of 410 Third Street northwest, in which he asks for a decision of the Street Cleaning Department, on a complaint of August 31, relative to the removal of ashes from his house. Mr. Hallam states that the point of complaint in his former letter was that the ash collector refused to remove the ashes by way of a private alley, and insisted that they should be piled on the pavement or the basement in front. Mr. Hallam also states that the receipt of his former letter was acknowledged, and that he was informed that an answer would be made upon investigation.

"Whether there was an investigation or not," says Mr. Hallam, "I do not know, but no grain of ashes has been removed from here under the new arrangement, and I understand now that the collector will do nothing beyond ringing the bells, will not enter yards or look in areas, but require householders to be on the alert for the gang, and call them if wanted. With all due deference to the collector, this strikes me as being unreasonable, and to householders it is an improvement on the old system. It does not seem fair that female servants, or women doing their own housework, should be required to carry ashes to the street, and especially up area steps for male collectors, and it does not accord with public and private appearances for cans of ashes to stand at front doors, waiting the convenience of the collectors."

Warner Stutler, the Superintendent of Street Cleaning, stated yesterday in regard to the letter of Mr. Hallam, that an inspector of the department made an investigation of the matter upon the receipt of the former's complaint, and that he found the facts to be that the alley through which he wanted the ashes carried ran about eighty feet west and forty feet north to the rear of Mr. Hallam's house. This it was thought too long a distance for the ashes to be carried by the collector, especially when the house has facilities for the disposal of ashes on the front yard without their being carried through the rooms of the house.

Mr. Stutler stated that another investigation would be made, and a report submitted to the Commissioner, upon which their action in the matter could be based.

Carroll D. Judson, attorney for the District Title Insurance Company, recently addressed the Commissioners requesting the cancellation of the tax for 1899 and taxes of that year on a parcel of land in Cleveland Park, assessed in the name of Charles C. Allen. He writes:

"Under date of February 1, 1900, there was issued by the Assessor of the District a tax certificate, No. 46,428, on parts of lots numbered 11 and 18, block 8, and one-tenth of an acre in Cleveland Park, assessed in the name of Charles Gordon Allen, upon which the taxes, then in arrears, were shown to be: General taxes due for 1899, $27.29, and for the year ended June 30, 1900, $27.29.

"On April 13, 1900, said tax certificate was presented at the office of the Assessor and a bill for the 1899 tax was received in response to said request a bill for a' of the tax amounting to $27.29, penalty $2.38, advertising $2.00, and $35.72, was received, and on the same day paid to the Collector. The discrepancy of 20 cents between the amount of the tax as shown by the tax certificate and the bill received in the bill was not observed by the party paying the same.

"It appears, nevertheless, that the 10-100 acre above described was sold for an alleged arrears of taxes amounting to 20 cents at the tax sale of April, 1900. As this sale took place without any fault on the part of the taxpayer, and as the request for and payment of a tax bill for the preparation of which the Assessor's certificate of taxes was tendered as a guide to indicate the property, and which bill the owner was led to believe represented all his indebtedness on account of the 1899 tax, it is respectfully submitted that the sale was unwarranted and should be canceled, together with all costs and penalties thereon."

H. H. Darnelle, the District Assessor, in reporting on the application, stated the cancellation of said sale of land said to the Commissioners: "Mr. Allen was assessed in the year 1899 for parts of lots 11 and 18, block 8, Cleveland Park, as non-agricultural land, and a bill was rendered and paid for the same. The 10-100 of an acre was assessed to the same party on the agricultural book in the amount of 29 cents tax, and a bill was not rendered for this parcel, consequently was not paid, and was advertised for sale under a writ of April, 1900, for $1.48 to Henry Walton.

"It is claimed that the amount of tax shown by the tax certificate and that paid for the bill for the 1899 tax were the same, and that the bill was paid by the party paying the same, and this claim is substantiated by the fact that the certificate presented when a bill was applied for recited the 10-100 of an acre in question, but the bill did not include it. It is evident the taxpayer was misled by this bill and supposed that he was paying on all the property embraced in the certificate, and relief should be granted. It is, therefore, recommended that the sale of April 20, 1900, of the 10-100 of an acre referred to be declared void, and that the amount be received, with interest, and penalties to April 19, 1900, the date of the payment on lots 11 and 18, block 8, Cleveland Park."

NO EVIDENCE OF CRIME

Result of the Autopsy on the Body of Miss Clayville.

Opinion of the Deputy Coroner That Death Was Due to a Hemorrhage—Probable Explanation of the Disordered State of the Room Where the Body Was Found by the Police.

Coroner Nevitt decided yesterday that no inquest was necessary relative to the death of Miss Sallie Clayville, whose body was found by the police at her home, 2341 N Street northwest, the day before. This determination was reached by the Coroner after he had learned the results of Deputy Coroner Glazebrook's autopsy upon the body.

The autopsy did not reveal the cause of death, but it showed, it is said, that it had not been due to violence. There was no evidence of foul play. In the opinion of Dr. Glazebrook death was due to hemorrhage.

Immediately after the autopsy Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Wheaton, of Philadelphia, called at No. 6 station and later obtained permission from Coroner Nevitt for the removal of the body to their home. Mr. Wheaton is an uncle of the deceased. Judging from the condition of the body, Dr. Glazebrook was of the opinion that the death occurred between seven and ten days ago.

Previous to the autopsy Lieutenant Boyle and the police of the Third precinct, who assisted Coroner Nevitt in an investigation of the death of Miss Clayville. They were at first inclined to the belief that the woman had committed suicide. They agreed, too, that there was some slight evidence of foul play, but the latter idea was dispelled after a careful examination of the room. The discovery was made that the furniture in the second-story front room, where the body was found, and the blood stains on the floor were what gave rise to the impression that murder had been done while the empty half pint whisky flask found under the head of the dead woman created the impression that poison may have been taken.

It is supposed that in her suffering Miss Clayville staggered about the room clutching at chairs and other articles of furniture and overturned some of them. The position of the body—half on a sofa and half on the floor—indicated that she had fallen exhausted.

Miss Clayville was born at Cincinnati, Ohio, in 1860, and came to Washington when about twenty-five years old. She had some wealth and received a liberal education. The investments were prudent and fruitful and about seven years after her arrival here Miss Clayville had amassed a little fortune. She then returned to her former home, where she remained with her mother for about two years, when she again removed to this city.

She again invested in real estate and this time was unsuccessful. Her wealth dwindled until she was practically ruined and compelled to take boarders in order to earn a living for the maintenance of her household.

Street was then converted into a boarding house and about $2,500 expended in furnishing it.

In the early part of May of the present year Miss Clayville lost her boarders and had since lived alone. Her relatives heard from her constantly and thought, some time ago, the letters indicated despondency. They were cheerful and optimistic. Mr. Wheaton stated yesterday that at no time had his niece indicated that she entertained an idea of ending her life. He said that as far as he could learn Miss Clayville owed very few bills and had no love affair. He felt satisfied that death had been due to a hemorrhage, as stated.

Wife Claims She Was Deserted.
Ellen R. Waters, in the District Supreme Court, yesterday, through her attorney, P. Mattingly, filed suit for divorce from Percival L. Waters, on the ground of desertion. Judge Kimball imposed a fine of $100 on the defendant, who was married to the defendant in this city on December 14, 1889, and that in the latter part of March, 1895, the defendant left her. From 1895 to August, 1896, the defendant never contributed a cent toward the support of herself and child, but since August, 1896, the defendant has been sending from $20 to $25 per month for support of the child. The desertion of the petitioner by the defendant, was, it is stated, the declaration, without cause on her part.

Knocked a Woman Down Stairs.
James Portley, colored, and a difficulty yesterday night with Hannah Cook, who colored. The woman was not as amiable as Portley desired she should be, and he struck her in the mouth and knocked her down stairs. When Judge Kimball heard the evidence in the case in the Police Court yesterday morning he ordered Portley to pay a fine of $20 or go to jail for sixty days. Portley went down.

Judge Kimball imposed a fine of $100 on the defendant, who was married to the defendant in this city on December 14, 1889, and that in the latter part of March, 1895, the defendant left her. From 1895 to August, 1896, the defendant never contributed a cent toward the support of herself and child, but since August, 1896, the defendant has been sending from $20 to $25 per month for support of the child.
